

To: Schmittziel, Paula[Schmittziel.Paula@epa.gov]
From: Forrest, Sabrina
Sent: Thur 11/14/2013 8:07:54 PM
Subject: RE: Important Question on Upper Animas

I think it all was shared with them and I certainly don't think there is any privileged info or data in them. In fact, I think the Hennis and Sunnyside FOIAs have turned everything over to those parties anyway and I'm pretty sure I shared everything as a matter of course with the ARSG.

If they have never seen them and freak go ahead and throw me under the bus and then we'll get them copies. I think they were generated during a data gap filling exercise, but I have lost those brain cells and would have to go look at the reports START generated for me.

From: Schmittziel, Paula
Sent: Thursday, November 14, 2013 11:55 AM
To: Forrest, Sabrina
Subject: Important Question on Upper Animas
Importance: High

Sabrina – The 2 aerial maps that you gave me about a week ago: Fig. 2 - showing many of the “bigger” mines and mine tunnels and some of the smelters around Silverton and Fig. 1 that shows more of the overall watershed –

Have these maps been shared with the public/ARSG? If I took Fig. 2 to Silverton next week and was referring to it when Peter Butler (WQCD Commission) give Steve and I a site tour, would that be a problem? Don't know if these maps are considered privileged?

Thanks

Paula Schmittiel

Remedial Project Manager

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

1595 Wynkoop St.

Denver, CO 80202

Office: 303-312-6861

Cell: 720-951-0795